

Inconsistencies in treatment between company workers and part-time/fixed-term workers is strictly prohibited.

Revisions to the law stipulate the uniform application of the following regulations ① through ③ for “non-regular workers” (part-time workers, fixed-term workers, dispatch workers*1):

*1 The “Act on Improvement of the Employment Management for Part-Time Workers” now includes fixed-term workers. The title of the act has been changed to the “Act on the Improvement of the Employment Management for Part-Time and Fixed-Term Workers” (also known as the “Part-Time / Fixed-Term Employment Act”).

Enforced from April, 2020. The act will apply to small and medium enterprises from April 1st, 2021 onwards.

① Prohibiting Inconsistencies in Treatment:

Inconsistencies in any and all kinds of treatment between regular company workers and “non-regular workers” within the same company, including an employee’s basic salary and/or bonuses, are strictly prohibited. This act specifies balanced/equal rules regarding employee treatment, which may be used as the basis for judgement in a court of law. Guidelines*2 are in place to clarify which differences in treatment are deemed inconsistent.

*2 The line of reasoning illustrating which differences in treatment are deemed consistent or inconsistent is available online. For more details, including examples, please visit: <http://www.mhlw.go.jp/stf/seisakunitsuite/bunya/0000190591.html> .

Balanced Treatment Rules
(No Inconsistencies in Treatment)

The (1) Job Description*3, the (2) Scope of Job Description and Placement Changes, and (3) Other Circumstances are taken into consideration to prohibit inconsistencies in treatment.

Equal Treatment Rules
(No Discriminatory Treatment)

If the (1) Job Description*3 and the (2) Scope of Job Description and Placement Changes are the same, any discriminatory treatment is strictly prohibited.

*3 “Job Description” refers to the content of work and the level of responsibility.

For dispatch workers, employers must ensure either of the following:

- 1) The dispatch worker receives the same, balanced and equal treatment as the company workers at the workplace to which they have been assigned, or
- 2) The treatment of the dispatch worker satisfies certain established conditions, in compliance with the Labour-Management Agreement.

※ Business operators who accept dispatch workers are now required to provide information regarding worker treatment to the relevant dispatch company.
